About SUCELLOG project

The SUCELLOG project - Triggering the creation of biomass logistic centres by the agro-industry - aims to widespread the participation of the agrarian sector in the sustainable supply of solid biofuels in Europe. SUCELLOG action focuses in an almost unexploited logistic concept: the implementation of agro-industry logistic centres in the agro-industry as a complement to their usual activity evidencing the large synergy existing between the agro-economy and the bio-economy. Further information about the project and the partners involved are available under www.sucellog.eu.

Objective

In order to ensure a continuous availability of information and visibility of work and outcomes of the project on local, regional, national and European level from the beginning of the project until the end, a series of newsletters have been developed and sent every 6 months to a list of stakeholders set up by the project partners.

The newsletters were written in English and translated into German, Spanish, Italian and French. After dissemination all newsletters were uploaded on the website in the “Newsletter” section in each language. For the English version, AcyMailing was used to send the newsletter to the list of stakeholders from outside the partners’ countries. For the national stakeholders, the newsletter was sent by the partners via e-mail.

During the project lifetime 6 issues of SUCELLOG project Newsletter has been prepared and disseminated.

This report gives a short summary on the contents of each issue as well as provides links to published newsletters on SUCELLOG project website.

1. Newsletter – Issue 1, September 2014

The first newsletter has been prepared in September 2014 and was an introductory letter giving a general overview of the project mentioning the goal, activities and the support that can be provided to the stakeholders. Upcoming events related to the project were also included in a separate section. The German, Spanish and Italian versions were translated following the same pattern and format. The French version was a bit modified including a section on agropellets in general.

2. Newsletter – Issue 2, March 2015

The second issue of SUCELLOG project Newsletter has been prepared in March 2015. The issue contained information about the 4 selected agro-industries which started the first steps to become a logistic centre with the support of the project. It included as well a summary on the engagement actions and interviews with the stakeholders and a summary on the assessment of the real potential of primary agrarian biomass supply which have been carried out in the target regions. The German, Spanish, Italian and French versions were translated following the same pattern and format.

The 2nd SUCELLOG project Newsletter is available on project website under the following links:

3. Newsletter – Issue 3, September 2015 – March, 2016

The third issue of SUCELLOG Newsletter has been prepared in September – October, 2015 and informed about the results of the feasibility studies and business models which have been conducted for the 4 selected agro-industries planning to become biomass logistic centres with the support of the project. It also included information about the national workshops (organised by the national agrarian associations with the aim of involving regional agrarian associations of non-target regions in the project) and the advertisement on the diagnosis and auditing service offered by the project to agro-industries wishing to become biomass logistic centres.

The German, Spanish and Italian versions were translated following the same pattern and format and disseminated in September – October, 2015. Due to the delay in the results of the feasibility study and business model, the French version of the 3rd Newsletter has been finalized and disseminated in March, 2016. The dissemination of the English version has been also delayed since it included a summary of the feasibility study and business model of the 4 agro-industries and could have been completed only after the results from France became available. The English version has been finalized along with the French one in March, 2016.

The 3rd SUCELLOG project Newsletter is available on project website under the following links:

4. Newsletter – Issue 4, April – May, 2016

The fourth issue of SUCELLOG Newsletter has been prepared in April – May, 2016 and informed about the progress in the development of biomass logistic centres, about training sessions for new auditors and the implementation of first auditing services. Furthermore, this issue of the newsletter highlighted some of the latest publications and informed about upcoming events with a participation of SUCELLOG project.

The German, Spanish, Italian and French versions were translated following the same pattern and format. English version includes summary of results and implemented activities in all four project countries. Issue 4 in Spanish has been disseminated in April, 2016, in other languages – in May, 2016.

The 4th SUCELLOG project Newsletter is available on project website under the following links:

5. Newsletter – Issue 5, November, 2016

The fifth issue of SUCELLOG Newsletter has been prepared in November, 2016 and informed about opportunities to benefit from international training sessions provided to agro-industries in upcoming months and general expert advisory services provided free of charge through SUCELLOG project. It also informed about latest project publications and about upcoming events with participation of SUCELLOG project.

The German, Spanish, Italian and French versions were translated following the same pattern and format, except the information about international training has been excluded from the national versions, since the information was not relevant for stakeholders from the countries involved in the project consortium.

6. Newsletter – Issue 6, March, 2017

The final issue of SUCELLOG Newsletter has been prepared in March, 2017 and informed about the outcomes, results and lessons learned during the 3 years of SUCELLOG project implementation. It also included links to the most important results and materials produced in the project lifetime and summarized conclusions from activities in four SUCELLOG project countries. The newsletter was concluded by a brief summary of the final workshop organized in February in Brussels.

The German, Spanish, Italian and French versions were translated following the same pattern and format. National versions contained only country relevant information and summary of the case studies of supported agro-industries. English version included brief summary of activities in all four project countries.
